A saloon keeper of Madison, Illinois, has introduced a novel sport that is fast finding favor with the "gay ones," which is nothing more nor less than a beer drinking bout between two ducks. The fowls are kept without water for two or three days and then each is led to a huge basin of beer, which in their famished condition they drink eagerly, and it is said that their drunken antics would put any human "soak" to shame. The duck standing up the longest under his jag is declared the winner.

It now appears that 134,011 electors of St. Louis voted for candidates of the Democratic or Republican party for Supreme Court at the election. That is just 1,066 fewer than voted for Taft and Bryan in 1908. With practically the same aggregate vote each year the Democrats lost 6,281 votes and the Republicans gained 5,215. So the way the Republican majority of 13,242 in 1908 became 24,739 in 1910 is quite simple—mathematically at least if not politically. But does anybody really believe there has been such an upheaval politically in St. Louis, while the rest of Missouri and all the country outside of Missouri has been upheaving the other way about?—Republic.

The recent street fair left an aligator with Charley Mitchell, and it has been in a tank in his real estate office, where it has been viewed by hundreds, especially the children, to whom it is a great curiosity. The reptile is very large, being six feet in length. The colored population gives it a wide berth. In the days of slavery in the south when a slave escaped capture, it was given out on the plantation that he had been devoured by crocodiles and a great dread of the saurians was thus created among the negroes. This fear seems to survive in the race, hence they will not approach very close to Mr. Mitchell's pet.—Osceola Democrat.

The Park Hotel, that is now presided over by the Yagle Bros., who are also proprietors of the Fraternal Inn at Butler, is rapidly acquiring an enviable prestige for the excellent character of service it is rendering the public. The cuisine is not only great improved, but a number of improvements have been made in the interior arrangement that contribute greatly to the comfort and convenience of the guests. The proprietors are experienced hotel men, and they are leaving nothing undone in their efforts to cater to the wants of the public.—Eldorado Sun.

The experiment of testing the efficacy of crude petroleum on the streets of Eldorado is going to be tried, says the Eldorado Sun. The experiment that is now in progress, is being made on the part of Main street immediately east of Spring street. The street is being properly graded, then it will be covered by chat from the JoJolin mines. Then it will be treated to a coat of crude oil. If the results prove satisfactory, after proper trial, it is probable that the whole of Main street will be oiled in the course of the next few months.

Helen Maggie, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Bolin, Shawnee township, departed this life Monday, November 21, 1910, after an illness of diphtheria. Funeral services were held, and the little body was laid to rest in the Oak Hill cemetery Tuesday at 12 o'clock. A multitude of sympathetic friends mourn with the bereaved parents.

Smallest Person Dead.

Canyonville, Ore., Nov. 21.—Minnie Pickett, 13 years and 4 months old and weighing only fourteen pounds, died here to-day.

She is believed to have been the smallest person in the world of her age.

At Home.

Delightfully informal, but perfect in every detail, characterized the reception given by Mrs. A. B. Owen, Mrs. E. N. Chastain and Mrs. W. G. Shafer at the home of Mrs. Owen Tuesday afternoon.

The receiving hours were from two-thirty to five-thirty; and with the beautiful autumn afternoon, the spacious rooms were thronged with guests. Huge bouquets of luxuriant chrysanthemums and ferns banked the piano and tables and formed a beautiful background for the receiving party and their guests. Candles under pink shades gave a softened light to the rooms.

In the dining room pink and white were the prevailing colors. A tall vase filled with white chrysanthemums stood on the dining table, which was covered with a handsome lace cloth, and the dainty two-course lunch carried out the pink and white effect, and delicious punch was served in the hall.

A short musical program was given throughout the evening by Misses Nelle Douglass, Jennie Owen, Grace Shafer, Gertrude Crowell and several vocal numbers by Miss Marguerite Snyder, rendered in her usual charming manner. The assisting ladies were: Mesdames F. H. Crowell, T. W. Arnold, D. C. Chastain and Misses Marvel Loyd, Nelle Douglass, Irene Shafer, Jennie Owen, Marguerite Snyder, Helen Chastain, Grace Shafer and Gertrude Crowell.

Rev. J. A. Jared, who assisted in meetings at Fairmount church, near Independence, Mo., last week, returned home the first of this week and will preach at the M. E. church, South, next Sunday, both morning and evening.
